PREMIERES WEDNESDAY ON PLANET GREEN

--The Intervention Gets Interesting on GUTTED: U.S. Premiere on Wednesday, June 23 at 10 PM (ET)--

Planet Green explores the fascinating relationship that hoarders have with their accumulated junk - and how their habit can take over their lives - in the U.S. premiere of GUTTED. The series, which features a unique game show twist, premieres on Wednesday, June 23 at 10PM (ET) in Planet Green's VERGE primetime block.

Each of GUTTED's ten episodes features a junk lover who was nominated - without their knowledge - by their family to participate. Hosted by Mark Durden-Smith, the action begins when a hoarder returns home only to find their possessions confiscated by the GUTTED team.

The hoarder is challenged with answering questions regarding their prized junk in order to win back their possessions. At the conclusion of each episode, each hoarder is faced with a dilemma - either reclaim their treasured possessions or take cash instead.

VERGE is Planet Green's primetime programming block, which offers diverse and compelling entertainment with a focus on moving forward-broadening Planet Green's on-air conversation to emphasize conscious living and provocative storytelling.
