

The Adventures of Chuck and Friends

Character Descriptions

CHUCK

Chuck is a pint-size dump truck with a big sense of humor, enormous amounts of enthusiasm, energy and heart, and an endless imagination. Chuck is, in most ways, like any other eight year-old boy...aside from the four wheels, that is. He loves to dream big, then try and turn his dreams into reality. He's curious, precocious, always on the go, meeting things head-on, and learning about the world and his own limits every day.

BOOMER

Big and loud though he can be, fire truck Boomer would just as soon hang back and be quiet. Hanging around extroverted Chuck brings him out of his shy, shiny, red shell, but it's a slow process. Boomer tends to be a "tank half empty" kind of truck, frequently needing a good, hard nudge to jump into an adventure. Once he's jumped in, he invariably has a good time! The one time Boomer does not hesitate is when he thinks a friend needs his help. Then, his siren blares, his lights flash, his ladder swings everywhere, and Boomer rushes into action, no matter what the situation!

HANDY

Handy is the "get it done" fully-loaded tool truck, who's so fully loaded, he's never quite sure of exactly what he has on board. He is a creative, inventive sort who's up for anything, which makes him very simpatico with Chuck. He is always ready to use his Handy hook which enables him to do just about anything.

He's also very encouraging, quick to note the gifts his friends have, even if they don't, and to suggest to them ways they might think outside the box to use them. Handy is also very generous, willing to loan anyone any of his tools...After all, he probably has a spare inside himself somewhere!

DIGGER

Digger is the strong, silent type of front-loader of Hispanic descent, happy to let his powerful scooper and backhoe do the talking for him. For the most part, he's content to let others make the plans and just follow along, but he's not without opinions. Digger is smart, gentle and considerate – He'd never use his great strength in anger. He's also level-headed and surprisingly graceful for a truck of his size. Digger is completely, one hundred percent reliable. If he sets out to get something done, you can bet that he will, even if he's up until the milk trucks make their rounds.

SOKU

If you hear the latest hot tune coming from over that hill, you better get ready, because that means Soku is on his way! And every time Soku comes to visit, this slick custom car has something new to pop out of his sunroof and show off – a new stereo, a new chrome hitch, a new gear rack, or a new paint job. He is a born show-off who always knows the latest and greatest of everything. One thing Soku is definitely not into is getting dirty – Hey, it's not easy looking this awesome! Lucky for Soku, his vanity is endearing and he is extremely tech-savvy, knowing how every latest gadget on the market works. If he's behind on a trend – or on something he thinks might be a trend – he works tirelessly until he is the undisputed expert...and sometimes his knowledge comes in very handy!

ROWDY

Rowdy the garbage truck has no clue that he's smelly, loud, a little clumsy and completely excitable – and probably wouldn't care if he did know! He's a big, energetic, physical teddy bear who loves to collect off things, is eager to please, and even more eager to join in the fun, leaving a trail of garbage behind. Comments about his stench or the commotion he causes roll right off his back. Rowdy is proud of the things that make him uniquely him, and he's not going to change for anyone...then he wouldn't be himself. That sense of individuality makes him one of Chuck's favorite people.

BIGGS

Biggs, the undersized monster truck is the little big man. What he lacks in size, he more than makes up for in boisterousness. He meets everything head on with joy, excitement and good old enthusiasm. Biggs' attitude is one hundred percent "go for it," in a goofy, good-natured way, he believes in living life to the fullest, and doesn't want to miss a thing! And he's made himself hard to miss, with his big tires, rally flag, big, shiny tail pipes, and steer horns. Biggs wants to be a big star on the outdoor racing circuit, and like Chuck, completely worships Rally, giving the two boys loads of common ground and lots of excuses to practice racing against each other.
