Freddy Rodriguez @FreddyRdriguez Voice of “Master Chavez” in “Kaijudo: Clash of the Duel Masters”

Freddy Rodriguez stars as “Master Chavez,” the Duel Master of the Fire Civilization and mentor to the hero Ray, in “Kaijudo: Clash of the Duel Masters” on the Hub Network. Stephen Davis is executive producer of “Kaijudo: Clash of the Duel Masters” from Hasbro Studios.

Rodriguez received two Screen Actors Guild Awards® and an Emmy® Award nomination for Best Supporting Actor for his role on “Six Feet Under.”

Rodriguez’s upcoming feature film credits include “CBGB,” opposite Malin Akerman and Alan Rickman, and “Fort Bliss.” His long list of film credits also includes “Harsh Times,” alongside Christian Bale; “Bobby” for writer-director Emilio Estevez; M. Night Shymalan’s “Lady in the Water”; Wolfgang Petersen’s “Poseidon”; “Dreamer” opposite Dakota Fanning and Kurt Russell; Steve Gaghan’s “Havoc”; “Dead Presidents” directed by the Hughes brothers; “Payback” with Mel Gibson; and “For Love or Country: The Arturo Sandoval Story” with Andy Garcia.

In addition to his award-winning role on “Six Feet Under,” Rodriguez’s television work includes recurring roles on “Ugly Betty” and “Scrubs.”

Rodriguez also has a prolific voice-over career. His credits include “Generator Rex,” “Family Guy,” “American Dad!,” “Teen Titans,” and “Young Justice.”

A Chicago native, Rodriguez began acting as a teen. He received a two-year scholarship to the summer arts program at Chicago Center for the Gifted. Starring in more than 20 theater productions in his hometown, Rodriguez majored in drama at Chicago’s Lincoln Park High School, which specializes in the performing arts. He later became heavily involved in Chicago’s early hip-hop scene as a dancer and choreographer.

Rodriguez currently lives in Los Angeles with his wife and two sons.
