Samuel Patrick Chu
“Brandon” on “Spooksville”

@SamuelPatrikChu

Samuel Patrick Chu stars as “Brandon,” an upbeat 16-year-old boy who works at the local hangout spot called the “Holy Mackerel Café,” in “Spooksville” on the Hub Network. “Spooksville” is based on the acclaimed book series by author Christopher Pike. The series is from Front Street Pictures, Springville Productions, and Jane Startz Productions and it is executive produced by Harvey Kahn (“R.L. Stine’s The Haunting Hour: The Series”) and Jane Startz (“Ella Enchanted”).

Chu’s film credits include “Night at the Museum: Battle of the Smithsonian,” “Diary of a Wimpy Kid,” “The Sandlot: Heading Home,” and “Martian Child.”

Chu just wrapped the ABC television pilot “Rita” and has a slate of credits that include recurring roles on “Alcatraz” and “Level Up!” Guest starring appearances include “Mr. Young,” “Flash Gordon,” “Battlestar Galactica,” “Eureka,” and the Daytime Emmy® Award-winning popular anthology series “R.L. Stine’s The Haunting Hour: The Series,” also on the Hub Network.

Chu studies under Kate Twa at the Railtown Actors Studio. He is also exploring his dancing talents and is currently in rehearsals for his first ballet as the lead male dancer in a 26-minute long production titled “Poetry in Motion” debuting this fall.

Chu currently resides on the Canadian West Coast where he enjoys the outdoors through sailing and snow-boarding. In his spare time, he also enjoys hockey, martial arts and guitar.
