JERSEY BRIDES #1 & JERSEY BRIDES #2 [Airing at 10:30PM ET/PT]

Go bling or go home—that's the mantra for the typical Jersey bride in this Paramus boutique. Sisters Joyce and Julie Jou, owners of Bijou Bridal, must face these demanding, over-the-top brides as they search for the perfect wedding dress. White, lacey and sophisticated just doesn't cut it—these brides want to be bedazzled and the center of all attention. Rhinestones, glitter, huge skirts and rolls of taffeta are the only things that can please these large-than-life ladies as they stick to tradition and never settle for being anything less than happy and fabulous on their big days.

BRIDES OF BEVERLY HILLS #3 – ELISSA REILLY

The day starts with Renée and her team of stylists reviewing one of the latest and sexiest bridal trends—bikinis! This trend is so hot, even Kevin Lee confesses to finding the model sporting the beach bunny bridal wear fabulous. Reality TV star, Rachel Reilly makes another appearance at Renée's—this time to accompany her younger sister Elissa who is on the hunt for the perfect gown. In true Rachel Reilly fashion, she has a secret surprise for her sister that almost sabotages her chances of buying a wedding dress she might just love. Meanwhile, bride Adriana has a hard time sharing the spotlight with her mother, who is also a bride-to-be in the market for a wedding dress.

BRIDES OF BEVERLY HILLS #6 – ZAHAVA MARKS

Renée's first bride of the day, Marilyn Monroe impersonator, Zahava, comes to the salon in hopes to find an 'Old Hollywood' styled gown for her wedding. Renee reaches out to renowned wedding dress designer and friend, Amy Michelson, to bring in a selection of her very best vintage couture gowns to prepare for the appointment. Meanwhile, Sharaé struggles to please Pentecostal virgin bride, Ana and her devout Christian family. Ana's request for a "Christian sexy" dress proves to be a very tall order. Fortunately for Sharaé, Ana falls in love with a gown that everyone agrees is perfect for her conservative nuptials. Renée's final appointment of the day is Chester, a gay man who is looking to wear the ultimate princess gown for his wedding day.
