SPECIALS

IN MEMORIAM

Commercial-Free Special Airs Saturday, February 8 at 9/8c

The United States averages an active shooter incident every 14 days. This film examines this reality from a new perspective as wounded survivors, grieving relatives, and heroes from three recent massacres relive the moment their lives changed forever. The film moves beyond the polarized gun control debate to examine the permanent emotional scars mass shootings create. We hear in detail from survivors and first responders of the horrific attacks at the Las Vegas Route 91 Harvest music festival, Sutherland Springs Baptist Church in Texas, and the Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School in Parkland, Florida.

THE GREEN RIVER KILLER: MIND OF A MONSTER

Special Airs Monday, February 17 from 9-11 p.m. ET

Beginning in the early 1980s, Washington state was gripped with fear as the bodies of young women began appearing along the banks of the Green River. As the number of victims grew, investigators created a taskforce and enlisted the help of the FBI, but it took almost 20 years to finally catch their man. Through startling and chilling tapes and video archive of Gary Ridgway's police interviews, THE GREEN RIVER KILLER: MIND OF A MONSTER reveals, in Ridgway's own disturbing words, insight into his evil: from how his troubling behavior as a child morphed into his morbid motivation to murder as many women as possible. With in-depth interviews from investigators who worked tirelessly to solve the case and jaw-dropping footage, the two-hour special delves into every facet of Ridgway's complicated psyche, exposing how he eventually transformed into a prolific serial killer.
