THE LITTLE COUPLE (SEASON 4) #21 - EPISODE 21

The road to becoming parents has been a long one for The Little Couple. But, today they meet Cindy and James, the couple that may be their surrogate family. Naturally, the meeting starts out in an awkwardly formal way. But soon, everyone relaxes and opens up. Cindy shows herself to be a warm, funny, giving woman who is eager to help a couple in need know the joy of parenthood. By the end of the meeting, Bill and Jen are sold. But now they have to wait and see if Cindy and James feel the same way about working with them. To help keep their minds off the wait, Jen has arranged a to meet up with her friend, Vanessa, and her kids. The plan is for Bill and Jen to spend the day at a children's museum with Vanessa's 2-year-old son, Cole. Can they keep up with the boy's limitless energy? Though playing with Cole turns out to be a lot of fun for them, Bill and Jen discover that they have a lot to learn before they have a child of their own! Exhausted from the day with Cole, Jen's phone rings and it's the call they've been waiting for: Cindy and James have made their decision. Have Bill and Jen finally found their surrogate?

THE LITTLE COUPLE (SEASON 4) #13- SEE YOU LATER, ALLIGATOR?

As their custom home reaches completion, Bill and Jen decide to meet with a local interior designer. Jen hits it off right away and it's apparent that Bill won't have much of a hand in this process. Luckily he's about to go on a camping trip with his lifelong friend, Dave. As Bill takes an inventory of camping supplies in the garage, Jen warns him about the alligators that inhabit the state park where he'll be roughing it. Although Bill laughs off her concerns, but promises her he will not end up as an alligator's lunch. After Bill and Dave struggle to set up their comically large tent, they take a tour of the park to check out the wildlife. Bill finally realizes that Jen wasn't kidding and the alligators are not so easy to laugh off when they're only a few feet away.
