New York [August 16, 2021] The biggest, buzziest, boldest, breakout show concepts are coming to HGTV and discovery+ Home in 2021/early 2022 and attendees at today's Television Critics Association (TCA) virtual tour will get a sneak peek at new celebrity-led series that focus on everything from blowing out walls for major renos to room designs for Gen Z'ers. The network and the streamer also will showcase series with fun twists on home renovations; dynamic new stars who break design boundaries with their non-traditional vision; follow-doc series that show the unvarnished journey of families' tackling their own home renos; and compelling real estate and renovation competitions that will keep fans glued to their screens.

Featured panelist Kendra Wilkinson, who is currently in production, will share behind-the-scenes experiences from her upcoming discovery+ series, Kendra Sells Hollywood.
