WHERE/WHEN: No Demo Reno premieres Thursday, Sept. 14, at 9 p.m. ET/PT on HGTV.

WHO: Home renovation expert, designer and social media creator Jenn Todryk—who shares her humor, relatable family life and savvy home, fashion and beauty advice with more than 1.2 million followers on Instagram's @theramblingredhead—will continue to deliver breathtaking whole-home transformations without major demolition in 12 new episodes of HGTV's hit series No Demo Reno. Jenn, who attracted 18.4 million viewers to the series' sophomore season, will help clients in the Dallas-Fort Worth area create functional, stylish dream homes within their existing footprints, wall removal or large-scale demo often not required. To save time, money and stress for each family, Jenn will offer smart design solutions, find innovative ways to stretch the budget and incorporate personalized features to produce stunning overhauls.

In the season premiere, Jenn will upgrade a 1960s home for a family of five, infusing the refreshed spaces with an organic modern design. She'll add practical storage in the galley kitchen including a custom appliance cabinet and install a striking double vanity and bold floor tile in the bathroom making it ideal for both kids and guests. Future episodes will spotlight more of Jenn's elegant yet practical touches while she keeps the walls intact, such as a specially crafted bourbon cabinet and a dramatic butler's pantry with porcelain tile countertops, and will follow her family's next personal project—the renovation and opening of a local brewery.

No Demo Reno is produced by RTR Media.
