LOS ANGELES — The Hub Network, the only network dedicated to providing kids and families entertainment they can watch together, received six Daytime Emmy® Awards, including “Outstanding Children’s Series” for “R.L. Stine’s The Haunting Hour: The Series” for the second year in a row, during the 41st Annual Daytime Creative Arts Emmy® Awards last night in Los Angeles. This brings the Hub Network’s total Daytime Emmy® Award wins to 18 after just 3-1/2 years on air.

“When we started the Hub Network in 2010, we set out to provide high quality, original programming,” said Margaret Loesch, President & CEO, Hub Network. “Every year since the Hub Network’s inception, we have been recognized by the members of the Academy for excellence in front of and behind the camera and I could not be prouder of the Hub Network team, as well as all of our talent, producers and production staffs for the work they have been doing for us.”

The series that received honors during the Daytime Creative Arts Emmy® Awards ceremony include “R.L. Stine’s The Haunting Hour: The Series” (Front Street Pictures in association with The Hatchery, LLC.), “Sabrina Secrets of a Teenage Witch” (Splash Entertainment; Archie Comic Publications, Inc.; DSK Group, India; Laughing Lion; and Telegael Teoranta), “Transformers Prime Beast Hunters” (Hasbro Studios), “Spooksville” (Front Street Pictures, Springville Productions, and Jane Startz Productions) and “The Aquabats!
