BUILD IT BIGGER

Fourth Season Premieres Thursday, April 8 at 9PM (ET/PT)

Series Airs Thursdays at 9PM (ET/PT) on Science Channel

Back for a fourth season, host Danny Forster traverses the globe examining life altering, miraculous engineering projects in the Science Channel fan-favorite series BUILD IT BIGGER, premiering Thursday, April 8 at 9 PM ET/PT. A professional architect by trade, Forster brings viewers unique perspective on the planet's most astounding and innovative feats of construction. From the largest cantilever on earth hanging 650 feet in the air above Singapore to constructing the world's most powerful hydroelectric plant in Rio de Janeiro and the largest storm surge barrier designed to protect New Orleans, each project not only changes city skylines but alters life for the better for the city's inhabitants. In each episode Forster tackles architectural and engineering concepts to give viewers clear, unprecedented and up-close access to the heaviest construction lifts ever attempted, the largest earthmoving undertakings, the newest construction techniques, and mining projects at the most remote, deepest places on earth.
